

Fr. Łukasz Pałubicki, Non-Metaphysical Arguments for the Existence of God in the Doctrine of St. Thomas Aquinas

Summary

In his article the Author deliberates on non-metaphysical arguments for the existence of God in the doctrine of Saint Thomas Aquinas. The author presents problems of pre-philosophical cognition of the existence of Good, such as the cognition through religious faith and through religious experience. The basic purpose of the text is to give an answer to the question: do the non-metaphysical arguments for the existence of God confirm theistic theses? In the light of Saint Thomas' doctrine the answer to such a question must be negative.
