COMMON HERITAGE („WSPOLNE DZIEDZICTWO”)
AS A CHRONICLE OF THE POLISH COMMUNITY
IN KRZEMIENIEC

SUMMARY

The article analyzes the content of the Polish journal Common Heritage („Wspolne Dziedzictwo”) published in Krzemieniec (Ukraine) in 2001-2004. The considerations are divided into four subject fields: the presentation of the journal, the religious life of the Polish Catholic community, the Polish historical and cultural past, and the daily life of Krzemieniec and its inhabitants. The main part of texts traces and searches for a place of the Polish community of 220 persons in the town of 22,000 inhabitants, and refers to issues which bring together or differ from each other the Polish and Ukrainian nations, even the veiled case of the Wolyn slaughter which is usually eliminated from every day conversations.

KEY WORDS: Krzemieniec, Polish minority, Polish journal, Common Heritage.
